Porsche and Guatemala have a long, shared history. As early as 1953, at the Carrera Panamericana, the Porsche importer Jaroslav Juhan formed a team, which saw its first class victory in Central America with Jose Herrarte. With 45 members, the Porsche Club Guatemala is not only one of the bigger Porsche Clubs in Central America, but also certainly one of the most active.

With joint excursions through particularly attractive areas of Guatemala, driving courses on the racing circuit or social events, Porsche Experience Tours through Europe and visits to the Porsche Museum and the Leipzig plant, there's something on offer to suit all tastes. The Porsche Parade and the Track Days at the Pedro Cofiño racing circuit are the real highlights.

In 2002, the Porsche Club Tasmania is founded. Aside from varied driving excursions and events, its members can also enjoy the Porsche Club Tasmania's Driver Days. In addition, the Club is of course the "Home Club" of the Targa Tasmania. Klaus Bischof, former Head of Porsche Museum is an honorary member.

The first four-door: The sporty Porsche Cayenne crossover SUV is presented to the international audience at the 2002 Paris Auto Show. The vehicle, also available in Cayenne S and Cayenne Turbo models, is produced in the Leipzig plant.

After a long period of preparation and much involvement, Ernesto Rodriguez succeeded in getting official recognition of the Cuban Porsche Club. On 20 December 2003 the founding ceremony of the Porsche Club Cuba took place in Havana. The event took place at a majestic 30s villa in which the participants enjoyed a celebration in the Cuban style, with cocktails, local food and music. Finally, there followed a small Porsche parade through the city. The number of Club members is still relatively low, right now there are seven Porsches in Havana that are known of – all Porsche 356 from production years 1955 to 1959.

ABOUT REMOTE ISLANDS AND OTHER EXTREMES

In the middle of the Atlantic lies Iceland. An island with around 360,000 inhabitants. This includes 80 enthusiastic Porsche drivers around Pétur Lentz, who found their Porsche Club Island on 10 November 2006. "Somewhat" south of Iceland lie the Cayman Islands. A Porsche Club is founded there too. Is there any correlation?

From this point of view on the other end of the world the Porsche Club Korea is founded. And on the Matterhorn, the highest Porsche Club is founded. Higher, further or more beautiful, it's best enjoyed together. In total in the year 2006, 13 new Clubs are founded world-wide. Porsche is on the road to success.

In the 2006 season, the RS Spyder made its exclusive debut with Penske Racing in the ALMS. And in its first full racing season won all titles up for grabs: The Drivers', Teams' and Manufacturers' Championships. The highlight of the 2006 season was the overall victory in the extremely competitive LMP1 competition in round 3 in Mid-Ohio.

ENJOYMENT WITGHOUT BORDERS ...

Crossing borders, experiencing the Porsche fascination together with central-European neighbours, and competing in sporty competition with fellow Clubs – these are the founding principles of the Cross Border Rally, a collaborative project of the Porsche Klub Slovenija and the Porsche Club Steiermark. And with this border crossing project for Porsche Klub

Slovenija everything started: what followed was a bi-national Porsche Parade Europe together with Porsche Club Croatia and the annual Porsche Club Alpe-Danube-Adria Tour organized together with Porsche Club Graz and Porsche Club Trentino.

RALLYE TRANSSYBERIA

Long-distance rally racing with the Porsche Cayenne S Transsyberia is another building block in the comprehensive Porsche customer sport programme. In the 2007 Transsyberia, the Porsche Teams achieved an impressive result: After more than 7,000 km, Rod Millen and Richard Kelsey (Team North America 2) attained overall victory in the Transsyberia Rally – a further 6 Cayenne S Transsyberia made the top ten.

Performance and endurance are the hallmarks of the single-seat, prototype race car the 911 GT3 RSR, intended for use world-wide in GT classes and conceived especially for use in long-distance races such as the 24 hour Le Mans. Exactly 60 years ago, the first Porsche sports car laid the foundation stone of this family-run industrial business to become the most important sports car manufacturer in the world.

"In the beginning I looked around but couldn't find the car of my dreams. So I decided to build it myself", says Ferry Porsche – and to this day this exceptional Inventor's and pioneer's spirit shapes the philosophy of the company.

The Porsche Club France includes the regions Atlantique, Aquitaine, Alsace, Auvergne, Nord Picardie, Paris/Ile de France, Rhône Alpes and Toulouse-Gascogne. The Porsche Model Club Asia, partner organisation of the European Model Club, is founded in Hong Kong.

THE PORSCHE JAGDWAGEN REGISTRY

The Porsche 597 Jagdwagen is an off-road vehicle, which Porsche planned from 1953 within the framework of an invitation to tender for the new West German army. The Jagdwagen was the first four-wheel drive Porsche to carry the Porsche name. The Porsche 597 Jagdwagen was never ordered. Nevertheless, around 71 Porsche 597 were manufactured between 1955 and 1958. One of the goals of the registry is to record the "survivors" in a world-wide register that is as complete as possible, along with serial number and current owner.

Hans-Peter Porsche – himself a happy 597 owner – is an honorary member of the Porsche Jagdwagen Registry.
